Dear Ellie,

Jackie and I are delighted with the family book. It looks absolutely like something that might have been authored by Hemingway and published by MacMillan. Thanks a lot!

We hope very much that a descendant several generations removed will one day pick up a dusty old copy and become engrossed over ancestors they never knew, but who seem like so much fun. It's funny how that kind of thought becomes more and more important as the years pile up.

So, thanks again!

Love,

Zot
